

Take Control of Your Revenue Cycle

GHN's Executive Dashboard can help you produce boardroom-quality reports designed to provide a real-time scorecard for your business. This customizable tool is capable of organizing your claim data and providing you with performance information that will allow you to make better decisions. Multiple data fields can be used to organize information about products, providers, specialty, regions, and individual sites.

Vital Data for Better Decision-Making

You know your business. The Executive Dashboard allows you to organize this information in very powerful ways. Better decisions can be made through easy organization of aged cash, common procedures, denial rates, common codes, claim trends, days to payment, zero dollar reimbursements, charges versus payments, and so on. Using date range analysis, you can take control of your revenue cycle through short-term comparisons or determine and identify long-term trends.
